Welcome!

We are proud to announce that the Hong Kong Maritime Week (HKMW) has come to its second edition. Last year, with the support and participation of both the international and local maritime community, we made this debut event a resounding success. This year, we will join hands with the Hong Kong Shipowners Association and the Hong Kong Maritime Museum to put together eight days of activities for the industry and our community. Through an intensive week of multifarious maritime activities, we hope to unite and showcase our maritime industry as a strong cluster, raise the community's awareness of the significant economic contributions of our maritime and port industries, and promote Hong Kong as a preferred base for operating maritime business. With this e-bulletin, we hope to update our friends all over the world regularly on HKMW 2017.

We would like to encourage you to participate in as many HKMW activities as possible and look forward to meeting you in HKMW during 19 - 26 November. Stay tuned for the latest HKMW news!
